We're Going On Holiday

Introduction

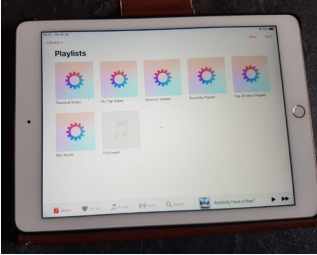

Join Betty and Roy on their journey to a hot holiday.

This is a great story for experiencing different textures and temperatures, from sun cream lotion to sand, to hot water bottles to cold drinks. Choose your favourite cold drink to taste and smell, choose your favourite music to listen to and find a nice colourful book to look through.

We've create a video of all the props you'll need for this Sensory Story here.

And you can watch a full version of this Sensory Story being performed by one of our leaders here.

| 'Eek we're going on holiday' Squealed Betty. 'Have you got everything you need? Passport? Money? Tickets?' 'Suitcase?' said Roy. | Suitcase |  |
| Phew! They made it. Time to scan their passports and their tickets. 'Oo let's see your photo Roy. Passport photos are always funny to look at' said Betty. And they had a good giggle at their serious photos. | Passport & ticket |  |
| Betty and Roy got settled on the plane. Roy listened to some music. | Music player |  |
| Betty read a book. Flick those pages | Book |  |
| 'Whoa it's windy getting off the plane'. Feel the breeze. | Fan |  |

| They arrived at the hotel and wow it's beautiful. There were chandeliers and marble pillars. 'Let's ding the bell so that we can check in' said Roy. | Bell |  |
| After they'd checked in, they went outside to explore the hotel and it's ground. Ahh phew, it was such a hot day. | Something warm |  |
| 'We'd better put some sun cream lotion on' said Betty. They squirted it on their arms, and their legs and they rubbed it into their faces. | Sunscreen |  |
| They carried on exploring the grounds and they came across the beach. 'Ahh the sand is so soft' said Roy. | Sand |  |
| They went to have a nice cold drink. Mm mm. 'Mmm that was just what I needed' said Roy. | A drink |  |
